

PREGNANT CHICK USER GUIDE #1:

What NOT To Say To A Chick Who Is Trying To Get Pregnant But Who Hasn't Had Any Luck Yet

1. 'If it's meant to happen, it will.' (No shit, Sherlock.)
2. 'I just know you will have one eventually.' (Does that come with a money-back guarantee?)
3. 'Don't worry, you can have one of mine.' (Such a generous offer — and from such a model parent, too.)
4. 'Maybe your job is too stressful and you should quit.' (Maybe you are incredibly annoying and should just shut up.)
5. 'Have they worked out what's wrong with you yet?' (Have you worked out that this is none of your freaking business yet?)
6. 'At least you'll save a lot of money if you don't have a baby.' (Wow, now you put it like that, I think I'll buy a Harley-Davidson instead.)
7. 'I know someone who tried for years and lost heaps of pregnancies before she was able to have a baby.' (Great, so only a few miscarriages to go.)
8. 'Tick tick tick tick ...' (Unbelievably enough, these were the exact words said to an older woman traumatised by multiple miscarriages. The insensitive bastard responsible still has both testicles intact, though this situation will change if the author of this book ever tracks him down.)